Dear Classmate,

This issue of Along Route '66 marks a revamped format to hopefully make our class newsletter more readable, a bit more fun, while taking advantage of the increasing opportunities that advances in desk publishing offer. As you can see on the cover, there is a new banner, a two-column format, a table of contents, and two new sections: "Memories", highlighting past news of classmates, and "'66 Abroad", listing those classmates who have signed up for Alumni Travel.

We've also decided to print this issue, and perhaps others this fiscal year, the 45th anniversary of our commencement, in full color. To save printing and distribution costs...and trees...we will embark on an effort to encourage classmates to read and/or print their issues at home, foregoing mailed copies, offering pdf downloads on our class website in both "print quality" (large files for DSL users) and "small file" (for dial-up users) versions. Now that we have developed our own email mailing capability, we will also test sending Along Route '66 as an attachment to the email which announces the availability of a new issue.

As always, a newsletter is only as good as the material sent to the editor. I hope you will continue to use the electronic green card capability on the website to send in your news and photos. Thanks for your support and I hope you enjoy what follows.

Letter from Chuck Sherman

Dear Classmates of 1966,

We've come a long way since we were together on the first blue dot on the graph below (from Science News, July 3, 2010, p.4). From the looks of it, those were the best years of our lives (on average, of course). Also (on average), the years since then have been work and not always so happy. But we're coming back. We've nearly caught up, and our next dots show us exceeding our well-being in the "good old days" --and continuing to get even better.

I hope we can all 'come back' to our upcoming reunions, remember the "good old days", share stories of our successes and travails, and rejoice in the happiness of the years we have left -- together.

--Chuck

Homecoming Mini-Reunion

To get on Chuck's "happiness curve", Mini-Reunion Chair Jim Lustnader reminds us that our annual Class of 1966 Mini-Reunion for Homecoming is less than 90 days away: October 29-30. In addition to the Harvard game, this year's get-together will feature Friday 'tails and barbecue at the DOC House on Occom Pond (an easy walk from campus); a Saturday morning class meeting and brunch at the Doscher's lovely home in Norwich; a post-game reception at the Canoe Club; a cocktail party and dinner at the Norwich Inn on Saturday; and a walk to the '66 Lodge on Sunday for continental breakfast and a viewing of our brass plaque (see page 9). Please return the form on Page 12 with your check made out to the Dartmouth Class of 1966 by October 16. And check www.dartmouth.edu for a complete schedule of College events (e.g. pre-game Chalk Talks) taking place over that weekend.

Date	Time	Event
Friday, 10/29	4:30	'Tails and barbecue at the DOC House on Occom Pond
	7:00	Parade of the classes and bonfire
Saturday, 10/30	10:00	Class meeting and brunch at Paul and Margo Doscher's home (directions below)
	1:30	Football vs. Harvard (order tickets directly from DCAC; request Class of '66 section)
	4:00	Canoe Club restaurant in Hanover (cash bar)
	6:00	Cocktails and dinner at the Norwich Inn (cash bar)
Sunday, 10/31	10:00	Walk to Class of '66 Lodge for continental breakfast (no charge) and viewing of brass plaque

Directions to Paul and Margo Doscher's Home

45th Reunion

Jim sent along the following update for classmates planning accommodations for the 45th Reunion in October, 2011: "I added the new boutique hotel in Hanover, Six South Street, to our roster with a guarantee of 15 rooms at $279 per night plus tax. This should help ease concerns about the Hanover Inn coming up with enough space." Other hotels with blocks include Dowd's Country Inn, the Lyme Inn, Marriott's Courtyard, and the Hampton Inn.

News of Classmates

Chuck Forester writes, "I published a memoir, Do You Live Around Here, in September 2009. I live in San Francisco with my partner John E. Cadle, PhD, a field biologist. My son Seth does design work for a computer gaming company."

cqforester@aol.com

Robo Cleary writes, "Judy and I live a day to day existence as necessary to cope with the vagaries of Parkinson's Disease. One lives on hopes of mere miracles of recovery. The Dept. of Medical Genetics, Indiana School of Medicine, conferred the Certificate of Appreciation upon me for assistance in the advancement of genetic research. I can still play squash in the senior's leagues. My participation in sports is just another creation for addressing the mental issues of Parkinsons." Robo and Judy still live in Novato, CA.

robo_28@comcast.net

"On June 29," reports Wayne LoCurto, "Kathy and I had cocktails on our boat and dinner with Marie and Chris (Twig) Meyer and Anne and Steve Warhover (left to right in the photo below) in Marblehead, MA. Kathy and I (far right) were on a two week cruise from Westport, CT to Boston and back."

wlocurto@aol.com

Penny and Jeff Gilbert visited Karen and me in Charleston for the annual Spoleto Festival of the Arts and a couple of rounds of golf. The Gilberts then headed out for Jackson Hole: "Greetings from Wyoming !! It does seem that when I am here I go underground to fish, hike, golf. I just returned from an excellent chamber music concert at the Grand Teton Music Festival -- Beethoven and Schuman. As you may recall the (Ken) Taylors and the (Dean) Spatzs are also part time residents (and full time golfers here) as well as Hank Phibbs."

“I’m sitting at home re-reading (umpteenth time) the March ‘10 Route 66,” writes Bill Ramos, “and indulging my morbid curiosity of comparing the current photos to the ones in the ‘66 Aegis. I am surprised how many of us are pilots, including Nick Steffen right here in Southern Nevada. I have invited him to fly with me, but we still haven’t gotten it together.”

“The many stories of retirement are intriguing, but I am still addicted to my income, but down to working only 3 days a week (from my earlier 6). I may never retire. I own a busy gynecology practice in Las Vegas, mainly performing a lot of abortions. It is really gratifying to be able to help women in times of crisis.”

wdr@DrRamos.com

Talking of retirees, Brad Stein has joined the group: “As many of you know by now, I am leaving the practice of law in order to figure out what my next career will be. Mary is definitely on edge about this whole thing. I’m in heaven. We’ll see how this progresses and I’ll tell you when I see you next time. My new e-mail address is listed below.”

bradstein66@gmail.com

After what may have been 40+ years, Jef Fellows has retired from Exeter Academy: “Day Three of retirement and it sure is great. Though I am still getting up at 5AM, life is much slower. I was ready. My updated info is listed below.”

jfellows3@comcast.net

Steve Shipps recently wrote a letter to the Dartmouth Alumni Magazine recounting the impact Professor Cox had on his life. Other than writing letters to the editor, what’s Steve been doing? “I seem somehow to have become 65, increasingly deaf, increasingly bionic (two new knees, and a new shoulder yet to come), increasingly retired (two more years at half-time, then out), increasingly befuddled as to what I’ll do next ... but happily married and proud as can be of our 20-year-old son, a truly good kid and a junior at Brandeis. So physical deterioration aside, THESE are the days, I guess.”

“Just to let any classmates know, I will be in Berlin again this October for the whole month,” writes John Hargraves. “I will be completing a two month residency at the Literary Colloquium Berlin, which was part of an award given to me by the Goethe Institute and the German Foreign Office for the best translation of a literary work in 2009. Any classmates in the area at that point, please send me an email! The Colloquium is a center for literary translation and is located in the very pleasant Berlin section of Wannsee, next door to the American Academy of Berlin.”

Dartmouth-Hitchcock Medical Center Board Member Al Keiller (pictured in front on the left) held the ribbon at the dedication of DHMC’s new Outpatient Surgery Center on June 22. The $31 million center — which was proposed in 2007 in response to an anticipated increase in demand for outpatient surgeries — provides a separate facility for DHMC patients requiring non-emergency procedures.

The Outpatient Surgery Center currently consists of four operating rooms and offers orthopedic, plastic and eye surgeries as well as adult and pediatric urological, ear, nose and throat procedures. In the upcoming year, the center will likely begin expanding into the four remaining operating rooms in the newly-constructed building in Lebanon.

Honorary AR '66 reporter Roger Brett submitted the following: "I reconnected with Bob Schwiesow, my multi-year roommate and close '66 friend. He is doing great, still in Port Townsend, Olympic Peninsula, WA area, and loves it. He is still very active with athletics, but took a bad bike fall recently and has 3 broken ribs! It was great to catch up as well as share old memories of our days at Dartmouth. I encouraged him to join us for upcoming reunions, but it may be tough to drag him out of his beloved Olympic Peninsula area! I'll keep trying as we approach our 45th next October."

lschwe9443@aol.com

"I read with much interest the May 2010 Along Route '66," writes Tommy Noyes. "The planning update for our 45th brought back many memories for me since I was a Hanover Townie/ Faculty Brat and made a good living off the generosity of returning alumni...schlepping bags in the dorms, working the tents, caddying, and selling the Daily Dartmouth for a quarter but never having change for a one-dollar bill! Jane and I are planning on coming back to Hanover in October 2011."

"About five months ago I decided that retirement was not for me! I am now heading up (part time of course) the US expansion of an Australian company. Classmates interested in a second/third/fourth career that will recycle/reuse your business and life smarts, check out www.Small-Fish.us."

The Small Fish website describes Tommy as "a former CEO of four companies, who brings his 40 years of work experience in both Fortune 500 and closely held mid-market companies to his Small Fish clients... Noyes has been involved with both international and regional organizations as a leader/facilitator of CEO groups...Noyes was recruited to Small Fish because of his proven experience in helping smaller companies become bigger and more profitable...".

"Tommy and his wife, Jane, live in Portland, Oregon . They have five children and five grandchildren. Noyes plays guitar and autoharp, is an active kayaker, fisherman, hiker and cook. He has been on the Marylhurst faculty staff in its MBA program . Noyes enjoys reading and writing poetry."

An odd fact about Tommy is that he is both a Dartmouth College '66 and a Tuck School '66. "I was originally a Duke '62, partied my way into a three year enlistment in the Army and came to Dartmouth in January '63 as a second term freshman", explains Tommy, "graduated from Dartmouth in June '65 having doubled up course work (at one point in time I was in finals at Dartmouth and in a course at Harvard and BU all at the same time) and going to Tuck for my senior undergraduate year."

Tommy, we look forward to seeing you and Jane in October 2011!

While we still haven't solved the mystery of the 1966 Patch with Canoers, we did hear from Peter Lake: "I bought one on e-Bay. I buy EVERYTHING on e-Bay, including four Mercedes. Clothes, ink, electronics -- everything except food. And I sell on e-Bay: mostly currency I helped recover from SS Andrea Doria. Look for it under the name 'deepestdive'. Besides currency, I'll have some body armor (don't ask) and other interesting goods I no longer need (like Hermes ties)."

A number of '66ers helped DOC members clear brush and other impediments on a trail leading from our Class of 1966 Lodge to the top of Moose Mountain. Dedicated to Ted Thompson's son Nat, who died in a camping accident in Mexico, the trail offers hikers a direct route from the trail-head, to the Lodge, to the summit. Bill Risso, Terry Lowd, Richard Blacklow, Chuck Sherman, Dick Birnie, Paul Doscher, and Lance Tapley, along with Ted and twelve family members, all helped in the effort. AR '66 wishes to thank Phillip Bracikowski '08 for the photos on pages 9 and 13 (of the on-line version).

Among the recent army of census takers was our own Don Ries: "Since there was no overseas job this year, Lin and I signed up with the US Census Bureau. I started in February and was tapped to give tests to those wanting to apply for jobs with the bureau. That lasted until mid May and was generally 40 hours per week. Lin started around the beginning of May as an enumerator, going to houses and apartments that did not send in their census form in April. A short time later, I switched to enumerating as well. We have found a lot of nice people who were willing to talk with us, and a few extremely rude folks who were ignorant of the purpose of the census. I'm pretty sure a lot of those folks rant about government spending, yet if everyone had sent in their census forms it would have saved the government billions of dollars. Yet only about 73% did so."

Don is planning to come back for the 45th: "Sure hope some time at the boathouse and a row can be scheduled. I would love to see all the lightweights and heavyweights on the river. Hope as many of the following 150's as I can remember will make it. Here's my list and if I missed anyone my apologies, a senior moment: Bob Serenbetz, Robin Knight, Thorny Jordan, Frank (Rowfast-er) Opaskar, Dick Wells, John Harbaugh, Ross Baylor, Tony Hanslin, Todd Kalif, Rick MacMillan, Rocky Ley, John Arnold, Jef Fellows, Dan Barnard, Bill Gruber, and Neal Zimmerman."

linda_ries@yahoo.com

"This is what I am doing since 1969," writes Pete Chilstrom, aka Swami Tapasananda of the Mother's Trust Lakeshore Interfaith Community in Ganges, MI. "Strange, eh? I have real interest in the 9/11 scam. The official myth is a fantasy used like the 1st Pearl Harbor to win approval for wars we feel we need to fight, to gain control over the last drops of oil and sea-power."

“Just a brief note to let you know that I have added new photos to my website, www.clickpoint-photo.com,” writes Jim Lustenader. “Most are from a five week trip I took in May to Paris, where I attended a class taught by photojournalist Peter Turnley and spent hours each day exploring the city. And there are a few pieces from Bristol, RI, home of America’s oldest 4th of July celebration (this was the 225th consecutive year); I found shooting the colorful locals as much fun as watching the parade.”

Head Agent Bob Spence’s July 1, 2009-June 30, 2010 Dartmouth College Fund Wrap-up

Dear Classmates,

OK, so how did the Class of '66 do in this past effort to raise funds for Dartmouth? Funds raised totaled $185,548 with a participation rate of 48.1%. We had just four fewer donors this year than in the 2008/9 campaign, despite a difficult economy. That’s the good news. The not so good news is that we fell short of our $225,000 and 50% goals. Only 14 other classes of the 75 classes monitored fell short of the dollar goal; 35 fell short in participation. Other class DCF giving ranged from $4.4 million (50th reunion year) to $22.8 thousand (recent graduates). Forty-four classes raised larger amounts than ours, thirty raised less. It was an OK year, but with our 45th on the horizon, we should aim to beat our own previous record. Bob Serenbetz came closest to guessing participation number, with a guess of 48%; and no, I did not render any help under the table. Jim Lustenader came in second at 48.5%. Guesses ranged from 35% to 71%.

are you?

Did you guys read the June 28-July 4 issue of BusinessWeek? College degrees were ranked in an audit, and segmented by return on investment. In other words, expected earnings divided by the cost of the college degree. The 30 year net return of the S&P 500 index is 11.1%. Only 88 schools topped that return, and Dartmouth ranked 5th. In other words, students at Dartmouth get one of the biggest bangs for the buck. Humm, in this day and age let me rephrase that. What students receive at Dartmouth prepares them for a lifetime of achievement which few other institutions can provide. Returns are not measured by dollars alone, as multiple examples of alumni service to the community demonstrate. Dartmouth is fulfilling its mission of preparing students for a lifetime of learning and responsible leadership, and that is what we are supporting.

Thanks once again to all who have participated and especially to all who assumed the job of class agent, never an easy job. As we approach the 45th our efforts will redouble, as time is short and every calendar's days are numbered. We will be seeking additional recruits and suggestions from within our class. We need to set goals per internal discussions among class officers and interested classmates, and hopefully structure a campaign in a manner that is compelling and all inclusive. Your involvement and support is critical.

We are Dartmouth!

Report from Council Rep Wayne LoCurto

Dear Classmates:

Following is a summary of the May 20-22 Alumni Council meeting which was held in Hanover. A full report is available on the Dartmouth Alumni Relations website. First, I apologize for not requesting your input before the meeting. Time just got away from me.

Highlights:

- The students' reaction to President Kim is "overwhelmingly positive". Everyone whom I met, whether faculty, administrator or alumni, seems to feel the same. Considering that he has spent most of his first year cutting $100M in expenses, that is saying something about him.
- 37% of us voted in the recent Trustee election vs. 32% for all alumni. While that is good, I'm sure we can do better.
- The recently completed Campaign for Dartmouth raised $1.3B and had a 70% alumni participation rate. That is a new record for participation. Thank you.
- Fraternities and sororities desperately need alumni involvement and leadership, not just financial support. Please get involved if you can, especially if you live in the Upper Valley.
- It does not appear that the subject of alumni elected trustee parity is on the Board of Trustees' radar screen. The BOT plans to add more charter trustees in the future.

- As a member of the Student Affairs Committee, I had the opportunity to hear from and talk to many students. In general, they are very happy with their Dartmouth experience and love Dartmouth as we do. For those of you who may have doubts about the College, I encourage you to go to Hanover and talk with the students. You will be impressed, and you will feel their excitement, enthusiasm and love for the College.

- With few exceptions, our varsity teams are in the bottom half of the Ivy League. President Kim intends to change that and has put particular emphasis on football and mens basketball. The "friends of" programs have been revitalized and are really helping the teams. The Friends of Football has already raised over $800K so far this year versus $350K all of last year. The student athletes asked for more alumni participation and attendance at away games. They appreciate letters, emails, calls of support and would like more of them. As one women said "we play for you".

Class of 1966 Lodge Plaque Unveiling

IN MEMORIA

We have received word that George W. "Sparky" Browning III passed away in Little Rock, AR, date unknown. He matriculated from Highland HS in Albuquerque, where he participated in the National Honor Society, the New Mexico State Student Council, Boys' State, and Dramatics. He was editor of the school's Yearbook. Freshman year he roomed in 402 South Mass. At Dartmouth, he was a member of the Tau Epsilon Phi Fraternity, the DOC, the DCU and the Edgerton House (Episcopal) Youth Group. A Spanish major, he was also active in El Circulo Espanol.

Sparky was involved in the travel business with Van Slycke & Reeside Travel in Little Rock. He is survived by a brother, Edward C. Viereckt.

Memories...

25 Years Ago

From Don Graves' June 1985 Along Route '66:

- Albie Macdonald was putting together our 20th Reunion (held in our 19th year with the Classes of 1964 and 1965, our last "joint" reunion) with help from Peter Dole (Reunion Giving Chairman) and John Pearson (Reunion Deposit (??) Chairman)

- Joe Hafner had to forego the reunion to attend the Rice Miller's Association convention (where were your priorities, Joe??). Son Michael had matriculated with the Class of 1989

- Al Keiswetter had a 40th Birthday safari in Kenya

- Peter Tuxen and Yanek Chiu were the past and current presidents of the Northern California Society of Colon and Rectal Surgeons Association

-David Anderson and wife Jan had their fourth son, William Chapman Anderson

40 Years Ago

From Charlie Wilmot's July, 1970 Along Route '66

- Tom Clarke, Phil Wade, Rich Kaiser, and Joel Myers were graduating from Harvard Med, while Roy Rubin, Steve Tosi, Ken Blunt, Mike Mac-Quarrie, Dave Harris, and Hank Streitfeld were graduating from Cornell Med

- Mike McConnell was completing his PhD in Business Administration at Stanford, on his way to a job at Boston Consulting Group

- Jim Lenfestey organized the River Falls (WI) Ecology Action Committee to deal with "problems of ecological consciousness and particular environmental disruptions (???)"

-Dick Sheaff was another budding environmentalist, serving as operations coordinator for an environmental planning program called "New Hampshire - Tomorrow" and as director of special projects for the Society for the Protection of New Hampshire Forests

-Bruce McKissock became an assistant district attorney in Philadelphia

-Jim Cason entered the Foreign Service after a degree from Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies

-Bill Todd and Charlie Wilmot were selected as participants in the 1970-71 academic exchange with the Soviet Union

Forbes Ranks Dartmouth 127th

Forbes Magazine has gotten into the college-ranking business...to Dartmouth's chagrin! Citing relatively high levels of student debt and dissatisfaction with teaching quality, Forbes gave Dartmouth the lowest ranking in the Ivy League. The College was an exception among "small" colleges, which were generally rated highly in the report. Dartmouth was ranked 11th in last year's U.S. News selections.

The rankings relied on five criteria, including the number of alumni listed in "Who's Who in America," student evaluations on Ratemyprofessors.com, four-year graduation rates, the number of alumni and faculty receiving national awards and the average amount of debt students accumulate over four years.

Princeton University was rated number one, followed by the California Institute of Technology, Harvard University, Swarthmore College and Williams College. Yale University and Columbia University were ranked ninth and 10th, respectively.

Harry Sheehy of Williams Selected New AD

In what would appear to be an excellent selection, Harry Sheehy will become Dartmouth's new Athletic Director effective September 7, reporting directly to President Kim. During each year of Sheehy's decade guiding the Williams athletics department, the Ephs won the NCAA Division III Directors' Cup, given to the athletics program that achieves the greatest success over a variety of 18 sports. In this past season, Williams had 14 of those 18 teams rank among the top 10 in their sport. Overall, the Ephs have won 17 national championships during Sheehy's tenure and had a total of 619 All-America honors bestowed on their student-athletes.

Before his appointment as Williams' Director of Athletics, Sheehy was the head men's basketball coach for the Ephs for 17 years, compiling a record of 324-104 (.757). Let's hope Mr. Sheehy can transfer this winning tradition to Dartmouth's coaches and athletes.

With most of our ranks either retired or working part-time, travel is becoming a more prevalent activity. A number of us have had wonderful experiences travelling with the Dartmouth Alumni Abroad program. Trips are arranged to all parts of the world, virtually all with Dartmouth professors as leaders, some with alumni groups from other schools, some exclusive to Dartmouth alumni. Roberta Moore administers the program within Alumni Relations; the Alumni Travel website, which provides itineraries (for trips as far ahead as 2012), costs, and lists of attending alumni, is linked to www.alum.dartmouth.org. Since you may feel more comfortable travelling with someone you know, we will henceforth provide a list of "66ers abroad".

Classmates who have signed up for future Alumni Trips include:

- Turkey (Sept. 2010): Mike McConnell
- Mediterranean WWII Sites (Sept. 2010): Ralph Crump
- India (October 2010): Jeff Gilbert, Ted Temple
- Classical Mediterranean (October 2010): Jim Dorr
- Egypt (November 2010): Dan Murray
- Morocco (November 2010): Bob Serenbetz
- Japan (May 2011): Gary Broughton
