February, 1985

Dust off your tennies, folks! Get those pale beach bodies into shape! (Storrs Pond awaits...)

We'll be on top in the tent in less than 120 days...

And accomodations. Have we got accomodations for you: The fabulous Tuck Mall will greet your failing vision as you gaze out of the spacious suite Albie MacDonald has arranged for each of you this June...Look west on Tuck and the Vermont hills...east on Baker Library...the Fan Room...the clanging bells, the crunch of feet on snow...no, wait. It'll be June, at least 2 weeks past the last frost date, if I remember correctly.

Albie's got a great program cooked up for us (he always did at Phi Delt, why should our 20th Reunion be any different?)...but he'll tell you about those things himself. I want to give you an update of who has sent back the postcards; who has definite plans to come and might come...

Here's the straight story, right from the MacDonald Reunion mailbox:

Has Dartmouth really changed since you were there? Consider:

Senior Esty Ticknor was named Ivy League Player of the Week after tallying a goal and an assist for the women's hockey team in a 6-3 triumph over first-place Harvard. Esty has the distinction of being the only Dartmouth woman to score 100 points in a career.

More "has Dartmouth really changed since we were there?" Consider the following quote from the Daily Dartmouth:

Freshman Bryan Randall, named Ivy League Player of the Week, scored 38 points in two games for the men's basketball team. This included the winning basket in a dramatic 62-60 upset victory over previously undefeated Harvard (I believe they are referring to that "city" school south of us...).

So how's the 20th Reunion Alumni Fund going? Pretty well, I understand, but The Class of 1966 needs your help if we are to successfully hit our goal by June. More on that from Steve a. Hector and Jim Poole in their own mailing. Two things to remember:

1. This is the BIG ONE. Come back in June...send a check in February.

2. Remember Matching Gifts. If you work for a company that matches, get one of their forms and send it with your contribution. Of course, if you don't work for one of those companies, you can always double your considered contribution...

CLASSMATES WHO CAN CHANGE THEIR MIND AND COME:

The rest of you!

Not a lot of news from the rest of you; whatsamatta? your word processors broken?? I'm left with the bulging file of book reviews about Al Ryan's book, "Quiet Neighbors: Prosecuting Nazi War Criminals in America." So far, I have seen the good write-ups in the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times (yes, some people read out here...) and the Wall Street Journal. Where I haven't seen the book is on the New York Times' bestseller list. I have the book on my desk to read. The rest of you get on down to B.Dalton's and make things happen...

James Lenfesty has written in from Minneapolis (1833 Girard Avenue South 55403) bringing stories of success and words from, "THE LENFESTY FAMILY, seven strong, representing enduring family values from the heart of downtown Minneapolis. Visit us today for advice and guidance on life, drama, romance and education in the Eighties." Now this invitation must be taken with a modicum of caution, since one of the "seven strong" is a stuffed coyote, representing for the family "a myth-hero-god-progenitor who operates according to the principles of humor, irony and unpredictability." We all knew that Feste's elevator didn't go all the way to the top floor, but I would suggest that the years in Psi U; perhaps working with Dean Spatz, well, who knows. Read on from the bio:

James P. Lenfesty (40) Recently published his 17th book of poems, third novel and wrote the script for the upcoming multimillion dollar Columbia release, Drone, an artful parody of Dune, Country, the Vietnam War and Winnie the Pooh. In addition, he has been cited for excellence in marketing communications by the Industrial Advertising Association, nominated for the National Book Award for THE SEX POEMS (copies available, $12.00, make checks out to Turning Forty Productions, let us know if you want the Custom Autographed Edition, no charge) and has been declared Teacher of the Year by the International Teachers of Humor Association. His production of Twelfth Night, set in Hollywood in the 80's and starring himself as FESTE, will open at the Vivian Beaumont in January.

James B. Lenfesty (17) The year started quickly with 2 traffic tickets back to back, and never slowed. Twin 800's on his college boards ensured him early acceptance at The Sorbonne, Oxford, Harvard and the University of Wisconsin-River Falls, and they have waived all requirements for a formal written application. His soccer team, of which he was goalie, won the national high school tournament and will compete in the World Cup in Japan in August. His experiment to determine if flies in amber can come back to life in outer space has been accepted for the Space Shuttle in 1986, with a personal invitation from Commander Grissom to ride along. Otherwise it has just been novel reading and chicks, chicks, chicks.

Dora Lenfesty (3) ...Perhaps we shouldn't have started her directly in high school, but when her Montessori Day Care reading scores came in at post-high school level...we felt the decision was appropriate...we are happy to report that she is the youngest girl in history to be awarded the Eagle, scouting's highest honor. Read about it in Newsweek.

Well, you get the picture. Feste will be at reunion, and a panel of classmates in the medical profession will try to determine if someone really did blow out his pilot light...

What about the rest of you? Are you coming?
